CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE IS MORRO VERDICT

Acting Captain and Chief Engineer Arraigned on Federal Charges.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The acting captain and chief engineer of the liner Morro Castle, which burned at sea with a loss of 194 lives, were arraigned today and arraigned immediately before a United States commissioner on charges of negligence, misconduct and intention to defraud.

William F. Warms, the acting captain, and Eben S. Abbott, the chief engineer, were released on bail of $2,500 each to await a hearing December 12 before Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter.

Federal statutes covering the case, which Assistant District Attorney W. F. H. Adams described as a "very serious crime," provide a maximum penalty of ten years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Charges Preferred.

The complaints against the ship's officers, filed by special Department of Justice agents, charged that as a result of their "misconduct, negligence and intention to defraud," the lives of upwards of fifty persons were destroyed.

Grand jurors who investigated accusations of criminal negligence in the disaster deliberated during the afternoon in private, but no indictment was handed up. The grand jury was reported, will meet again on Monday.

Warms and Abbott, with three others aboard the Morro Castle at the time of the disaster, are on trial also before steamboat inspectors for possible revocation of their licenses. They have denied any negligence.

Proper Care Lacking.

The complaint against Warms, sworn to by Francis J. Kilmartin, special agent for the department of justice, charged the acting captain "lawfully and wilfully by misconduct, negligence and intention to defraud," the lives of upwards of 200 passengers, and as a result of his misconduct, negligence and intention to defraud, the lives of upwards of 50 persons were destroyed.

The complaint against Abbott charged that he "lawfully and wilfully by misconduct, negligence and intention to defraud," the lives of upwards of 50 persons were destroyed.

The Morro Castle was swept by a mysterious fire off the Jersey coast last September 8, with Warms on the bridge following the sudden death of her master, Captain Robert R. Willmot.

Salesman Ends Life.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Walter Burroughs Hodges, 35, of Milwaukee, Wis., a salesman for an electrical appliance firm, was found dead today of gas fumes in his rooming house here. Coroner George W. McCoy said the death was a suicide.

FITZGERALD HALL HEADS N. C. & ST. L.

Successor to James Hill Has Been Connected With Road for 19 Years.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Elected president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad today, Fitzgerald Hall said that "with the aid of the thousands of fine men and women who make up the great N. C. & St. L. family, I am confident that we will continue to carry on in a manner worthy of our best traditions."

Hall, 45 years old, has been connected with the road for 19 years. He was advanced to the presidency from his position as vice president and general counsel, succeeding James B. Hill, who this week became head of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in succession to the late Whiteford R. Cole, who died November 17, formerly head of the N. C. & St. L.

"Mr. Cole and Mr. Hill," Hall said in a statement, "have built up such a fine organization and have handled our affairs with such wisdom and judgment that, with the aid of the thousands of fine men and women who make up the great N. C. & St. L. family, I am confident that we will continue to carry on in a manner worthy of our best traditions. If hard labor and a great desire will produce the happy result it will be done."

Professors Lauded.

The board of directors, in addition to electing Hall as president, adopted resolutions praising his two predecessors.

As head of the N. C. & St. L. and later of the L. & N., the directors said that Cole "gained the friendship and, indeed, the affection of officials and thousands of employees" and also "won the confidence of the vast public served by these railroads."

"His passing has taken from us a wise counselor, an honored associate and a beloved friend," the resolution recited.

In receiving the resignation of Hill as president of the N. C. & St. L., "as he responds to a call for enlarged duties and greater responsibilities" as president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company," the directors expressed their appreciation of his outstanding service to this railway and wish him well "in broader fields of action."

James B. Hill, pre-eminently, is a railroadier," the resolution stated.

Began as Lawyer.

Discarding a boyhood ambition to be a doctor, Hall became a lawyer and it was in that capacity that he entered the service of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway 19 years ago. He is 45 now.

The son of Allen Garland Hall, a former dean of the Vanderbilt University law school, he taught one of his father's classes when the latter became ill in the fall of 1915. The elder Hall died shortly afterward and, in addition to his legal practice, Fitzgerald Hall taught law at the university.

He was elected to the law school in 1911. He described this experience as "the nicest and most interesting work I have ever done."

Born in Nashville December 6, 1889, Hall has spent most of his life here "studying and working."

After being graduated from Vanderbilt law school in 1913, he practiced at Pulaski, Tenn., for a year and then was appointed assistant United States district attorney at Nashville. He held that position until May, 1915, when he was employed by the N. C. & St. L. as assistant to Judge Claude Waller, general counsel on the road.

In 1918, when the rails were under federal operation, Judge Waller died and Hall succeeded him. His work included the handling of legal affairs of several systems grouped under the government's method of operation.

Hall Stays With Road.

When the roads were returned to their owners in 1920, Hall remained as general counsel for the N. C. & St. L., and in 1926 was elected to serve as vice president in addition to his other duties. James B. Hill, president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, had relinquished the vice presidency to become president of the N. C. & St. L.

At Vanderbilt, however, he made a brilliant record, receiving the coveted founder's medal that is given to the senior selected by the legal faculty as the most promising attorney.

A participant in many sports, Hall remembers that "I played on all the scrub teams—I was worst a star."

After receiving both bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees, Hall began practicing law at Pulaski because his father had said that "a country town is the only place to learn to practice law."

In 1917 he married Miss Elizabeth Gardner, of Avondale, Tenn. They have two daughters.

His chief hobby is raising flowers. His life, he says, has been free from excitement. "I've never had any accidents or any serious troubles. I've spent all my life studying and working."

KEY LIQUOR PLAN HIT AS "ANARCHY" BY M. E. BISHOP

as will destroy efforts to secure the happiness and protection of womanhood and children. And the time is come for us as churchmen to lead the forces that will oppose any compromise and lead our common country to have before God its humble recognition of His authority."

Prolonged applause greeted the bishop's statement, and the conference passed a resolution, some weeping, many shouting.

This most vigorous pronouncement against the liquor traffic ever to have been made by this conference was instigated by the report of the laymen's committee, as read by Dr. W. T. Wynn, of Milledgeville, and of which committee Professor L. S. Ingram, president of the West Georgia College, is chairman.

The report, compiled by representative laymen from all north Georgia, asserted the determination of laymen to undertake to eliminate objectionable movies, seek to promote evangelism, and to reach out in an effort to conserve Georgia's prohibition law, and trying to reach every man, woman and child afflicted with the Methodist denomination.

Laymen Against Repeal.

Professor Ingram stated it to be the conviction of the laymen that they should be always and unalterably against any modification of Georgia's dry law.

Mrs. Mary Scott Russell, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Mary Harris Warner were introduced. Mrs. Russell spoke in behalf of the campaign against whisky sales and manufacture.

The laymen's definite statement is as follows: "A problem of immediate and pressing concern is the consumption of and traffic in alcoholic liquors. This is an old problem with new aspects. Following the repeal of the 18th Amendment, we are rapidly approaching conditions worse than that of the days of the open saloon. The high-powered advertising that is rapidly getting under way in the press, magazines, billboards, etc., will inevitably bring about a big rate of consumption of liquors. Unless all the forces of righteousness and moral indignation are mobilized to stem the tide. The solution of this problem involves the most intelligent study and constructive action of the church and its members, and our plan of attack must be most carefully studied. We must be unafraid and militant, but clear-sighted. Christianity, we must begin again to teach the evils of the use of alcoholic beverages. The Christian people of the state of Georgia are unopposed to the repeal of the 18th Amendment, and only a thoughtful and responsible leadership. It is the responsibility of the church to give that leadership. We stand unalterably opposed to the liquor traffic and to the repeal of the present state dry law."

Bishop Quotes Discipline.

In his impassioned address, Bishop Ainsworth quoted the Methodist discipline's words as to what the church shall do in the matter of exterminating the great evil of intemperance. He read as follows:

1. "Let all our preachers and members faithfully observe our general rule which forbids drunkenness, or drinking spirituous liquors, unless in cases of necessity."

2. "In cases of drunkenness, let the discipline be administered as in the case of immorality, drunkenness being a crime against the honor of the Word of God. In cases of drinking, except in cases of necessity, let the discipline be administered as for intemperance."

3. "Let all our preachers and members abstain from the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors to be used for their sale from becoming bondsmen for any person, as a condition for obtaining a license, or acting as a dispenser or voluntarily accepting an appointment or position as such under the laws of any state in which there is a dispensary law authorizing the sale of intoxicating liquors by the state, county, or municipality, and from receiving or accepting any such sale. If any member shall violate any provisions of this paragraph, he shall be deemed guilty of immorality."

"Need Paul Revere."

Continuing his speech, Bishop Ainsworth said: "We take our principles from no political party or political convention. Our discipline has not been repealed. We are in danger, as we see barriers going down, and we need a Paul Revere to ride the land warning the people against the program adopted by the liquor dealers, wherein they are seeking to destroy the prohibition law by the repeal of the 18th Amendment."

The conference adopted a resolution seeking to establish a uniform standard of membership in the work of merging churches, and promoting a period of cultivation of liberality.

Pastor Readmitted.

Rev. Edward Greger, a member of this conference who withdrew five years ago that he might go to New Jersey for a special work in the silk mills communities, was readmitted into membership.

A class of 11 young ministers who have been on trial for two years, having passed approved examinations, were readmitted.

Uncle Jakesh Likes New Bishop.

Uncle Jakesh Gilead, delegate from the rural district, sky line circuit, with Rev. Jeremiah Goodman as his partner, was bubbling over with humor, so we asked him the secret of all the hilarity.

"Son, you know I like this new bishop who has never saw anybody get less much done in a short time and with so little trouble as he does. And he never seems to be in a hurry. He don't mind working himself, and he believes in having the other fellow stay on the job, too. Those presiding elders are afraid to get out of their sight. I think I can fix them a few years ago who was as hard to keep in the conference room as it is to break an old setting hen, and the bishop would have to send for him every time. Wonder what Bishop Ainsworth would do with an elder like that. And, boy, that new bishop had a appointment fixed before the curb conference would get into a scramble. And nobody knows anything hardly. That bishop is an efficiency expert without knowing it. Look how he handles things like roll call, reading minutes, getting reports from each pastor. And did you notice how affectionate and considerate he was of those old superannuates? He actually shook hands with 'em, and blessed 'em. I'll tell you, son, our new bishop is a mover, and if you plan to stay in sight of him, you'll have to step on the gas."

Underwood and Mauburn Slammed.

Rev. M. L. Underwood, of Atlanta, and Rev. J. H. Mauburn, of Elberton, were the St. James twins of this conference. They joined the conference the same day, in 1872. They were born in the same year, the same month, and on the same day. Both of them are now on the retired list, and each numbers his admiring and loving friends by the hundreds.

Pay the Preacher, Get Rain.

Believe it or not. It's a fact. We have often heard that long dry spells come because the clergymen pay their preachers. Here's what happened in DeKalb county last summer: For six weeks not a drop of rain had fallen in a certain district, and the heavens appeared as brass. A Methodist woman saw her husband passing. Calling to him to wait a minute, she hurriedly wrote a check for her part of his salary. Within ten minutes rain began falling, the first in six weeks. Believe it or not. It's a fact.

Weather Man Very Considerate.

The weather man always tries to please. Knowing that the Methodists were coming to town this week he ordered showers as the appropriate thing. But he overdid the thing. Sure, Methodists believe in sprinkling, but they don't worship in water nor teach that it is absolutely essential to salvation. And as for fog, they do not like 'em at all. At all. Please, Mr. Weather Man, put on the soft pedal, and let us have some clear skies before it is over with.

TVA IS HELD ILLEGAL IN BECK-BAKER OPINION

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Edison Electric Institute, representing most of the nation's power producers, made public tonight the complete text of the opinion by James M. Beck and Newton D. Baker, holding the Tennessee Valley Authority act as "not within the constitutional powers of the congress."

The institute previously had announced that the Beck-Baker opinion had been prepared.

Though admitting that certain acts and policies of TVA come within the Tennessee Valley Authority act, the opinion asserted that in other respects TVA is going beyond the scope of the law.

The opinion also held that in engaging in the power business, TVA is "at once a denial of the police power of the state and an invasion of state sovereignty over territory to which the state has made no cession of sovereignty to the federal government."

"Its prime purpose and object," said the document of the "major program" of the TVA, "clearly is to have the federal government take over the electric power business in a large area of the country."

"It is believed that a fair construction of the provisions of the Tennessee Valley Authority act lead to the conclusion that there is no fair, real or substantial relation between the act and the power to regulate interstate commerce or the power to provide for the national defense."

POLICE BOARD BACKS SPRING STREET PLAN

Establishment of Spring street as a traffic artery, as recommended by the PEERA traffic survey here, was favored Friday night at a meeting of the police committee, of council as that body launched a holiday drive against lawlessness. The committee recommended purchase of six bullet-proof vests at a cost of $80 each and the request will go to the purchasing committee.

Action on the Spring street recommendation was made after Keller Melton, Georgia PEERA safety director, and DeFord Smith, in charge of the local survey, appealed to the committee to give the Spring street plan a trial. The measure will go to council Monday for sanction of that body.

Those playing punchboards and those owning them will be brought into court under order of Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant. The action was taken after the committee was informed that every kind of raffle from punchboards to slot machines was being held here.

The committee also voted to enforce the one-hour parking on Peachtree and Whitehall streets from Baker to Forsyth during the holiday season.

W. C. Duncan, patrolman, was fired for non-payment of debts; H. R. Beckel, janitor, pleaded guilty to conduct unbecoming an officer and was suspended for 30 days on recommendation of the chief.

J. R. Collins and W. F. Pittman were convicted on charges of being physically unfit to do police duty and were assigned to light work at salaries of $75 a month each. The same charges against Pat Campbell were dropped.

The committee cited Assistant Chief of Police C. P. Conally, veteran official, to show cause why he should not be dismissed for physical disability at the next meeting of the committee. Others who also will be before the committee are J. B. Hightower, C. E. Ford and W. S. Martin.

Midwestern States In Snowstorm's Grip

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Snowstorms were ordered out in the midwest today to free the highways of drifts in a storm which paralyzed motor traffic, grounded airplanes and delayed railway service.

From blizzards in Wisconsin and Minnesota, wintery conditions ranged southward to scattered rain and snow over Texas.

A gale whipped Lake Michigan into its worst disturbance in five years. "Temperatures generally were just below freezing. Boise City, Okla., reported a low of 14 degrees above zero. In farther north, the readings were higher.

Hundreds of motorists were delayed by the drifts.

Trees and transmission lines strained under the weight of ice and snow. Swung by a sharp north wind, many snapped.

Farmers who welcomed the clouds for drought relief confronted another problem as the snow blanket, ranging from four to 16 inches deep, kept them from the pastures.

"They will be forced to use their meager supplies of dry feed," said Robert S. Clough, Jackson county (Mo.) farm agent.

In the Rocky Mountain region, where recent precipitation closed mountain passes, a new storm was forecast.

Transport planes generally were earthbound. Plastered with snow, trains from the east and south puffed into Kansas City from two to four hours behind schedule. Rail service from the west was more nearly normal. Bus service was interrupted.

The Kansas state highway commission called 27 snowplows into service at division headquarters in Bonner Springs.

Missouri maintenance crews bucked into drifts on five major highways and a score of secondary roads.

Cheering them on were many persons, roosters at the Kansas-Missouri football game, who were marooned overnight in Columbia, Mo., Booneville and intermediate points.

Nelson's Slaying Held Justifiable Homicide

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The slaying of George (Baby Face) Nelson, the killer, was written into the books as a justifiable homicide today by a coroner's jury which found he had died in battle with two federal agents who gave their lives to the tradition of "always getting their man."

The same inquest disclosed the terrorist's practical wife, Helen Gillis, had several months ago picked out the body of her gangster husband when he met the inevitable—death at the hands of the law he defied.

The jurors, each of whom received $1 for listening, decided Nelson died of wounds in the abdomen inflicted by either or both Government Agents Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis. Both federal agents were fatally wounded in the affray last Tuesday in suburban Barrington.

The formality of the inquest disposed of, federal agents concentrated on a search of Nelson's wife, believed to have been with the Dillinger henchman when he was slain, and the unnamed gunman who made up the trio.

PWA RELIEF PLAN SEEN FOR ATLANTA

$50,000,000 Reported Involved in New Proposal. Confirmation Lacking.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A new plan of relief through cooperation with public works, the Birmingham News said it had learned today, is contemplated in four different type southern cities, with probably $50,000,000 involved.

The plan lacked official confirmation from Washington authorities, where Secretary of Interior, Ickes, director of the public works program, denied any knowledge of it.

Jacob Baker, assistant relief administrator in charge of work relief, said he knew of no such plan, but that a regional relief engineer made inquiries to determine the amount of work projects which might be developed to relieve relief rolls. This, Baker said, was done at the request of the Alabama relief administration.

Thad Holt, director of the relief work in the state, at Montgomery, when asked concerning the plan, declined to comment.

Under the proposed plan $50,000,000 would be made available for public works in Birmingham, Montgomery, Atlanta and Jacksonville, with probably $20,000,000 involved in the two Alabama cities.

The projects outlined for Birmingham, an industrial water system, elimination of grade crossings and general construction in Jefferson county were estimated to employ 17,500 men for from a year and a half to two years and involve $15,000,000.

Montgomery's contemplated construction includes a new city hall and a $10,000,000 state building program to quarter state departments in the capital, and improvements on 40 miles of streets.

The proposed work projects in Atlanta and Jacksonville were not disclosed.

Governor-Elect Bibb Graves, who conferred with the president at Warm Springs recently, was credited with giving impetus to the plan, and with having conferred with Joseph H. Prewitt, the regional relief engineer, mentioned by Baker, on the proposal.

The prevailing wage scale, under the plan, would be paid and it was estimated the relief rolls in the four affected cities would be eliminated.

T. Ingram, manager of the company's southern division.

Formal opening of Russell McPhail's local retail candy store at 128 Peachtree street, in the Rhodes-Haverty building, will take place this morning. It is said to be the most up-to-date of the group of stores opened by this nationally known Jacksonville candy manufacturer.

"The Atlanta store," said Mr. McPhail Friday, "is the ninth unit in our group of retail stores, the other eight being in Jacksonville. We are now planning to expand and establish additional retail stores in the south."

As a feature of the opening of the Atlanta store, it is planned to offer a pound of homemade candy free with each pound purchase of Russell McPhail's chocolates, and in addition give free samples to all visitors on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The local store will be under the management of Miss Alene Walker, of Atlanta, who has had wide experience in candy retailing. V. T. Ingram, manager of the company's southern division, who is in Atlanta with Mr. McPhail for opening of the local store, is also an Atlanta, and the personnel of the local store, it is announced, will consist entirely of Atlantans.

In addition to the regular Russell McPhail chocolates and other packaged goods, fresh candy in bulk will be stocked at lower prevailing prices than the packaged goods. A large line of special children's candies also will be carried.

The homemade candies, Mr. McPhail announced, will be made daily in Atlanta, with all ingredients tested for freshness and purity in the company's own testing laboratory. Included among these basic ingredients will be such items as fresh shell nutmeat, pure fresh sweet cream, table butter and fine blended chocolate.

ACTS, NOT WORDS ASKED OF HITLER

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Pierre Laval today asked Adolf Hitler to translate his words of peace into "acts."

Simultaneously Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal emissary, was reported seeking to prepare the way for joint action of French and German World War veterans to lessen the French fear of Hitler.

Laval, outlining the nation's foreign policies before the chamber of deputies, said:

"Chancellor Hitler has announced his desire for peace. We ask him to translate into action his words."

The foreign minister asserted that France has no intention of engaging in separate negotiations with Germany.

"Germany has been invited and will again be invited to participate on the same conditions as other countries in an eastern pact of mutual assistance whereby she is assured of obtaining the same guarantees as those which are given other associated countries," Laval declared.

He invited Hitler as proof of his desire for peace to associate himself with this policy.

By coincidence or otherwise, Von Ribbentrop reached the French capital on the day Laval had chosen to explain the Flaminio government's policies abroad to the deputies.

The Reichsfuehrer's envoy was reported trying to bring representatives of the two nations' World War soldiers together through Deputy Juan Goy, whom he is visiting.

If he finds the collaboration possible, Von Ribbentrop is expected to return to Paris later with Rudolf Hess, vice fuesher, and Hitler's lieutenant, who would act as spokesman for the German veterans.

Conversations looking toward the veterans co-operation would be "unofficial," it was reported, with the likelihood that Von Ribbentrop and Hess also would talk informally with Laval and Premier Pierre-Etienne Flaminio.

It was also considered possible that Von Ribbentrop might confer with Laval. Government circles said Laval would receive the German at the foreign office if asked to do so.

Commission to Begin Drafting Report on Aviation Monday

Five Months of Hearings Draw to Close and Group Prepares To Shape Recommendations.

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Clark Howell Sr., editor and president of The Atlanta Constitution, who five months ago told President Roosevelt "what I don't know about aviation would fill a book," will sit down Monday to write a book—on aviation.

And incidentally, this book by the chairman of the federal aviation commission, in collaboration with other commission members, gives promise of being the most important ever written on the subject.

It will epitomize facts and opinions gleaned from exhaustive inquiry into every phase of aviation, both commercial and national defense, and make recommendations to congress for shaping an integrated aeronautical policy for the nation.

Businessmen Wanted. On June 30, the president telephoned Howell at his office in The Constitution building and asked him to head the commission which just had been authorized by congress. Taken by surprise, the Atlanta replied by replying "what I don't know" about aviation.

Mr. Roosevelt explained he wanted some one who could solve the problem from a business as well as an expert standpoint.

Howell accepted and forthwith set upon the job at a vigorous and swift pace. He called the commission together in Washington, then sailed for Europe to study foreign aeronautical policy, while other members toured the states by air for a survey of conditions at home.

Returning after a month, Howell visited the president and called public hearings before the commission. Every one with facts or ideas on flying was invited to appear. Lindbergh and other famous flyers came. Howell lunched with the "flying colonel."

Closed Thursday. The hearings wound up last Thursday. The Atlanta set out for home to spend Thanksgiving with his family. He said he would be back on Monday to begin writing the report for congress. It must be in by February.

Howell, when called to the capital, presented an unusual background for the investigation and advisory work he was entrusted with.

Born in Barnwell county, South Carolina, September 21, 1865, he was educated in Atlanta, where his family moved, and at the University of Georgia. His career is the story of a reporter who became publisher of his father's newspaper. It includes many chapters of political service to his state and the national democratic party.

Filled Three Posts.

Three times he has been called to fill posts of national importance. President Harding appointed him to the United States coal commission in 1921. Eleven years later he was called to Washington as a member of the national transportation committee, of which Calvin Coolidge, former president, was chairman.

President Roosevelt bestowed upon him his latest national honor, by making him chairman of the aviation commission.

Although politics and national service have taken much of his time, Howell has held fast to his first interest—the newspaper.

In Washington, Howell has gone about his work quietly. Along the eight miles of hallway in the new Commerce building, he has a suite of offices and a hearing chamber on the seventh floor. He greets callers cordially.

Mitchell Appointed Head of Textile Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The textile labor board today appointed William A. Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., as chairman of the textile work board to study working conditions in the industry.

The board is to make an investigation in accordance with the terms of the textile strike settlement late in September.

Mitchell has been a textile expert with the agricultural adjustment administration.

The board also announced the appointment of the following employees' representatives: E. A. Oliver, Cincinnati; Ruth Ittner, Washington, D. C.; and Godfrey C. Brown, Washington, D. C.

For the employers: Earle R. Stall, Greenville, S. C.; Harold J. Walter, Unxbridge, Mass.; and John W. Nickerson, Manchester, Ohio.

'FLUNKED' U. S. AGENTS PUT ON 'NO PAY' STATUS

Members of the federal alcohol tax unit who failed in examinations given recently under the McKellar amendment to last appropriation bills were not ousted Friday as had been predicted. Instead they will be continued on a "duty status" without pay, according to a ruling submitted to the treasury Friday by Attorney-General Cummings in Washington.

Thus the 73 Atlanta agents who failed the tests will remain in the service until further notice. Their territory embraces Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina, according to R. E. Tuttle, division chief. Nine hundred agents flunked the tests, largely of psychological nature, leaving but 400 supposedly qualified to carry on the nation's liquor enforcement work.

'INDEPENDENTS' FORM THEATER CORPORATION

Col. Sam Borisky, of Chattanooga, Named President. $25,000 Capital Subscribed.

Stockholders of Independent Theatres' Investment Corporation met here Friday afternoon perfecting permanent organization with the election of Colonel Sam Borisky, of Chattanooga as president, and voting to expand geographically and financially. Capital stock of $25,000 was subscribed with proviso this may be increased within a short time.

While at present stockholders are recruited from the ranks of the Georgia-Florida-Tennessee-Alabama Independent Theatres' Association, it was voted to solicit prominent independent theater operators in nearby states as well. In this connection applause greeted a statement that GFTA had doubled its membership since July 1 of this year.

Other officers are Louis Bach, of Atlanta, senior vice president; Frank Dowler Jr., of Chattanooga, vice president; Charles Walder, of Miami, vice president; M. S. Kitz, of Montgomery, vice president; Willis J. Davis, of Atlanta, secretary-treasurer and secretary.

Directors included the foregoing in A. Jules Bendic, of Atlanta, assistant addition to N. H. Waters, of Birmingham; W. J. Ray, of Greenville, Ala.; Fred G. Weis, of Savannah; F. M. Arnall, of Newnan, Ga.; and N. T. Ragland, of Miami. R. W. Orenshaw, of Atlanta, is association attorney, while headquarters of the corporation will be maintained here at 182 Walton street, N. W.

The corporation will engage generally in the buying, selling and leasing of theaters and has begun investigation of sites in the four states looking to the possible erection of new motion picture houses.

EXHIBIT OF PAINTINGS OPENS AT Y. W. C. A.

An art exhibit featuring the paintings of Hale A. Woodruff, winner of the 1925 Spingarn medal and the 1926 Harmon Foundation prize, is being shown at the Y. W. C. A. building, 37 Auburn avenue, from December 1 to 8.

Jointly sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Phyllis Wheatley committee and the Artists' Guild of Atlanta, the exhibit will open tonight from 7 to 8 o'clock, when invited guests will be received by the chairman of the Y. W. C. A. committee, Mrs. Marvin Underwood, and the president of the Artists' Guild, Steffen Thomas, together with other officers of both organizations.

Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the general public is invited and at this time Mrs. Underwood and her committee will be in charge. For Wednesday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, invitations to the exhibit have been issued to interested groups by the Y. W. C. A. committee on cultural exchange, headed by Mrs. T. D. Albright and Mrs. Julian Harris.

On Friday afternoon, at the same hour, the Phyllis Wheatley board of directors will be in charge and all members of the branch association are invited to attend. Following the Y. W. C. A. membership luncheon on Saturday the 8th, the luncheon guests will be invited by the chairman, Mrs. Marvin Underwood, to inspect the exhibit.

Hale Woodruff, though born in Illinois, received his education in Nashville and attended the John Herron Art Institute, the Chicago Art Institute and the Academie Moderne, Paris. He has exhibited at New York Art Centre, Los Angeles Art Museum, the Galerie Jeune Peinture and the Galerie Pommerehne, Paris. This is his first exhibit in Atlanta and should elicit much interest from art lovers.

COMMITTEE SUPPORTS HIKE IN TAXICAB FARES

Atlanta taxicab initial fares will be increased from 30 cents for the first two miles to 35 cents for the first two and one-half miles, if council Monday approves a favorable report of the ordinance committee of council.

The committee also approved an ordinance making it mandatory that contractors accepting construction contracts from the city to pay wages scales as approved by the United States department of labor. A proposal to establish eight employees with the exception of the police and fire departments was held over.

4TH AREA CHAPLAINS MEET WITH MOSELEY

Chaplains of the organized reserves living in Atlanta held an organization meeting Friday night at the residence of Major General George Van Horn Moseley, Fort McPherson, commander of the fourth corps area. Preceding the meeting General Moseley entertained his guests at dinner. Those attending were the Revs. Lieutenant William S. Turner, Lieutenant William A. Huey, Major Herman L. Turner, Lieutenant E. Frank Finn, Captain Thomas C. Holland, Lieutenant Samuel A. Carledge, Lieutenant Charles L. Smith, Lieutenant Norman S. Marshall and Lieutenants B. S. Reack and Jack P. Morrison, CCC officers.

Cold, Clear Weather Seen for Week-End

Atlantans will receive nippy winter weather this week-end and the rain-fall which persisted up until noon Friday is not likely to continue today, dampening the spirits of those attending the Tech-Georgia football classic at Athens this afternoon. A .64-inch total precipitation was recorded for the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock Friday morning, with two-thirds of this falling within a 20-minute period earlier in the morning.

Rain and snow extended over most of the central and eastern portions of the nation, varying from 12 inches of snow in Springfield, Mo., to rain in northern Maine. Temperature of 40 degrees is expected this morning, with the mercury not rising above 45 throughout the day, Mr. Mindling said.

KEY APPROVES USE OF SCHOOL GROUND FOR WEEK-END PLAY

School officials may object to the use of the Capitol View school grounds as a playground on Saturdays and Sundays, but Mayor James L. Key and the Atlanta police department approve it. Following appearance of a delegation of nearly 50 boys of the Capitol View section at his office Friday, the mayor addressed a letter to Chief T. O. Sturdivant, of the police department, giving the boys permission to use the grounds. He withheld approval during week days, because it might interfere with schools.

The mayor told the group to seek to obtain permission to use a part of the Perkerson tract for playground purposes and he would help them get equipment "from FERA or from the city park department."

LAST SERVICES TODAY FOR GEN. G. S. PRIOR

ATLANTA'S THEATERS

Two Shows Today End

Run of "Men in White"

With the matinee and night performances today, "Men in White," the living stage version of the Palliser play at the Erlanger theatre, ends a two-week most successful engagement. With this great play the Charles Emerson Cook Players have firmly established themselves as prime favorites with Atlanta theatergoers, and there is evidence that their next offering, beginning Monday night, of "Sailor Beware," called the smash comedy hit of the present Broadway season, will have capacity attendance at each performance.

Although "Sailor Beware" is an hilarious comedy, it bears a likeness to "What Price Glory," in that it is bawdy without offending chaste patrons. In fact, in the New York performances nice old ladies were known to wipe their eyes and cheek choking throats at a love scene which was the culmination of some exceedingly rough sex talk.

Special Cartoon Show

At Capitol at 10 O'Clock

Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning the Capitol theater will offer another all-cartoon show. The program will feature some of the best cartoons featuring Betty Boop and Popeye and in addition there will be two screen shows offered.

For the convenience of those parents who will send their children to the theater accompanied by a colored maid, a special section has been reserved.

Soviet Workers Get Pay Hike To Meet Higher Living Costs

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A blanket 10 per cent increase in wages throughout the Soviet union to compensate for increased living costs for workers was announced today by Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the peoples' commissars.

The increase in food costs will be offset, January 1, with the elimination of bread cards, whereby workers are supplied with bread at prices under the open market rate.

"The increase in food costs will be offset, January 1, with the elimination of bread cards, whereby workers are supplied with bread at prices under the open market rate."

The new prices for bread will vary. They were announced as lowest in central Asia and highest in Siberia.

In general, however, the new bread prices are midway between the present card rate and the open market rate, averaging 50 to 60 per cent above the existing ration prices.

Black bread, which is the standard ration, now sells at 17 kopecks (nominally 33 1/2 cents) a pound if purchased on a worker's card. After the cards are done away with January 1, it will be 45 kopecks (nominally 90 cents) a pound.

President Molotov announced the government now has 25,000,000 tons of grain in reserve as a result of the second five-year plan, and said that it was now in a position to halt speculation in grain and assure an adequate supply of bread without rationing.

ALTO HEAD GETS LEAVE TO TAKE FERA POSITION

Dr. Haygood Named Medical Supervisor; Action on Dr. R. C. Swint Delayed.

The board of control Friday granted a leave of absence to Dr. M. F. Haygood, superintendent of the tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto, to enable him to become medical supervisor for the federal emergency relief administration in Georgia, and re-elected all hospital superintendents with the exception of Dr. R. C. Swint, head of the Milledgeville asylum, whose selection was deferred until the next meeting, which is expected to be at Milledgeville December 14.

Dr. Haygood, one of the best-known medical men in the state, is expected to assume his duties with the FERA in Atlanta later this week.

The leave of absence for Dr. Haygood was granted on application of Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia relief administrator, who pointed out that a physician of Dr. Haygood's wide talents was needed by the relief administration. The leave is for an indefinite period and Dr. Haygood will return to his post when his work with the FERA is completed.

No immediate action on naming a temporary successor to Dr. Haygood was taken. The matter was referred to the Alto committee, which is headed by E. E. Lindsey, who also is chairman of the full board.

In announcing the approval of the leave, Chairman Lindsey highly praised Dr. Haygood for his work and said that it was with extreme reluctance that the board agreed to the action.

Dr. Haygood is one of Georgia's most outstanding men, and were it not for the fact that we believe he will be of greater service in his new capacity we would not have considered letting him go," Chairman Lindsey said.

Chairman Lindsey said that the law requires it to meet at Milledgeville at least once a year, and that the election of Dr. Swint will be taken up there. No opposition to his reelection is anticipated.

The purchasing committee of the board is scheduled to meet at Milledgeville December 14, and it is expected that the full board will gather there then for its session.

MILK BOOTLEGGERS GO OUT OF PICTURE IN ATLANTA TODAY

With the inauguration here today of federal licensing for milk producers in the Atlanta area, the doom of the "milk bootleggers," producers whose milk is of doubtful quality, is foretold.

John McGill, regional consultant for the dairy section of the AAA, who has been named temporarily as market administrator for the Atlanta milk license area, with offices at 238 New Post Office building, stated Friday that the license will not regulate the price paid by the consumer for milk.

The purpose of the license, he explained, is to stabilize the milk production market by requiring all distributors to pay the same price for the same grades of milk, and by regulating the milk supply more nearly to the market's demands.

Dr. J. F. Kennedy, city health officer, has announced his sympathy with the purpose of the license and predicted it would result in a more dependable supply of high-quality milk for Atlanta consumers.

BIGGEST FLYING BOAT FORMALLY CHRISTENED

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Christened with rain drops rather than the usual champagne, the biggest flying boat in the world was trundled out of its hangar at the Glenn L. Martin Company plant here today.

Before a group of officials of the Pan-American Airways, for which the monster craft was built, the 46-passenger plane was dragged out of the assembly room at the plant by a tractor for a "pre-view" by the officials and Glenn Martin, designer and builder.

The plane is one of three under construction at the plant and is designed to carry, in addition to its passengers, a crew of five and mail and freight. Its useful load is 28,000 pounds and its weight fully loaded, 51,000.

It is designed for a top speed of 180 miles per hour, a cruising speed of 145, and a cruising range of up to 4,000 miles.

A New 1935 Radio for Xmas

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The city today appropriated $19,233,170 to be spent for relief during December, an all-time high in the monthly relief appropriations voted by the board of estimates.

Among the proposals for raising revenue to meet the difference between 1935 anticipations and expenditures carried in the budget commission report were the following:

1. Increase in the ad valorem tax levy or levy of an extraordinary emergency tax.

2. Levy of occupational, adult or professional taxes to provide lesser amounts.

Any or all of the suggestions may be tried, but Key told the commission Friday that council's failure to back his whiskey store proposal and to force large cuts in the salaries of employees, would be a "responsibility council will have to assume."

He has never asked the budget commission to approve the proposed liquor store, but has insisted that he would proceed himself "if council will give me its moral backing."

"The way council is sidestepping this liquor store idea reminds me of what Huey Long told me in New Orleans," Key said.

"I asked him how he felt on this whiskey question. His answer was: 'Well, politically I am dry, but personally I am wet as hell.'"

Key also pointed out that heretofore all liquor cars seized by Atlanta police have been turned over to the county for sale and that the city had no revenue from such condemnations.

"I have told the police department to stop turning those cars over to anybody," he said. "They should be used by the department. 'We can not buy cars to run down liquor runners and then turn all the proceeds over to the county. We need those cars and I propose to have them.'"

The Technique, weekly publication of Georgia Tech, Friday editorially supported the Key liquor store proposal, although it advised legislative action before establishment of the dispensary.

Tech and Georgia Renew Ancient Rivalry Today at Athens

'BAMA ACCEPTS FOURTH ROSE BOWL INVITATION

Five Stars Ready For Final Charge

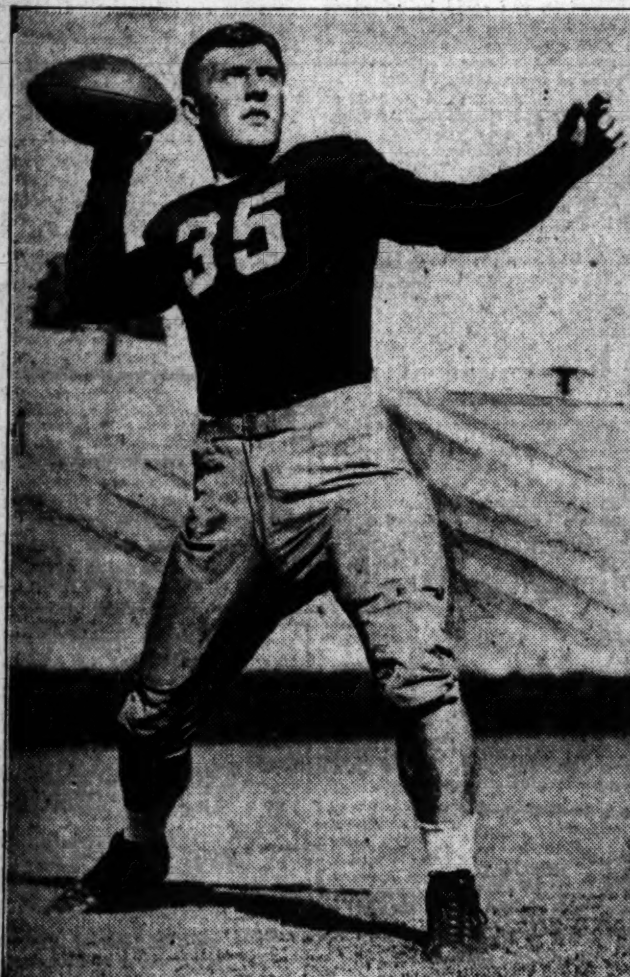

RALPH MCGILL, Sports Editor.
Grantland Rice - Clarence Nixon - Jimmy Jones - Roy White - Jack Troy - Henry McLemore - Alan J. Gould

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1934.

As Tech, Georgia Renew Old Rivalry

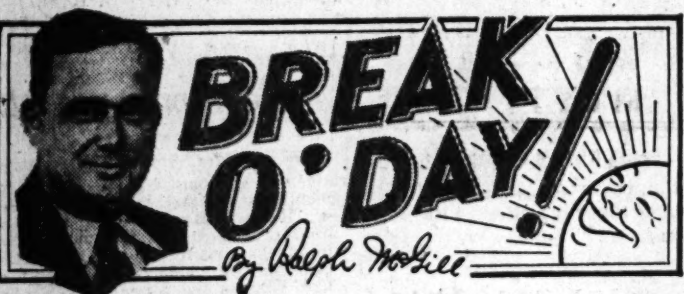

The five fine looking young men above will sing "swan songs" at they fly around Sanford field this afternoon in the annual Tech-Georgia game, which closes the season for both teams. All five of them have starred during the season for

from Waynesville, N. C., and Cy Grant, Georgia fullback from Cornelia. Roberts and Phillips were great players in a poor Tech season, while Griffith, Chapman and Grant have contributed to a successful Bulldog season after a bad start.

Georgia has won the last four games and hopes to make it five straight today. The greatest crowd of the season, including many state notables, is expected. Georgia is favored but an upset is possible. Staff photos.

Fellow With More Guns Can Do Most Shooting--That's Georgia

Is the convention ready for the question?
"What, if anything, can the Georgia Tech Engineers do with the Georgia Bulldogs at Sanford field this afternoon?"
It is a query which began 34 years ago and which bobs up annually.

The answer would seem to be just this—The Engineers, lacking players with the ability of those at Athens, will probably be defeated by about three touchdowns. That is the cold, hard answer developed by the unfeeling dopes on this season when an eight-times defeated Engineer eleven matches talents with the conquerors of Yale and five southern teams.

Yet this game is a merry one in which the dope has often been kicked in the heel of the pants; a game in which tradition plays a part; a game in which the boys take down their hair, look eye-for-eye, spit on their hands, roll up their sleeves and get down to business. The bitterness and woe of eight defeats would be wiped out for Georgia Tech with a victory today.

Georgia, despite three southern defeats, could safely call this a most successful season with a victory over Georgia Tech.

What do I think? You'd force the old gentleman out on a limb?

Well, I think Georgia because the Georgians have the most guns and the fellow with the most guns can do more shooting.

But I will leave myself a net in which to fall. This game is not without the possibilities of an upset. Stranger things have happened than Tech beating Georgia.

So, I'd be there to see two well-coached, fighting teams play ball.

THE LAST CHARGE.

It is the last charge for a number of players who have made some gallant efforts for their respective teams.

I remember seeing a slim kid from Cornelia step out as a sophomore sensation. Today Cyrus Grant, veteran player and one of the best backs in Dixie, makes his final appearance.

Shorty Roberts, called Clarence, will again thrill the crowd as he shoves his five feet and five inches under a kick, takes it and comes surging back up the field like a jack rabbit clad in football clothes.

Jack Phillips and Buck Chapman, two of the finest fullbacks in Dixie but hampered most of this year by injuries, will be in there today for the last time in their respective roles.

There are other players going out today—one of the Wilcox boys, Jack Griffith, Charley Turbyville, Peeewe Williams and others. All this makes for a great game.

One of those games wherein the thrills are every-minute affairs.

They are each defeated but the old, old lure of Tech vs. Georgia is still potent medicine for that let-down feeling.

HE LOOKED TOO CHEERFUL.

He looked so doggone cheerful I suspected something. I am referring to Mr. Frank Thomas, coach of Alabama's Crimson Tide—which will represent the east in the Rose Bowl game on January 1, come Michaelmas.

THOMAS ORDERS REST FOR TEAM

Strenuous Work To Begin Week From Monday, Coach Says.

By Steve T. McGinnis.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Alabama Crimson Tide today became the first football team east of the Rocky mountains to receive a fourth invitation to participate in the Tournament of Roses.

New Year's Day gridiron classic at Pasadena, Cal.

Alabama, undefeated and untied in a nine-game schedule, will oppose Stanford University in the colorful contest for a second time.

Their previous Rose Bowl meeting, in 1927, resulted in a 7-7 draw.

Invitation of Alabama and her acceptance was announced today at Los Angeles by Al Masters, graduate manager at Stanford. It was widely reported here yesterday.

The Tide's final game with Vanderbilt that an invitation was certain if Alabama could hurdle the last barrier. The Tide engulfed Vandy, 34 to 0.

Rose Bowl victories over Washington University, by 20-19, in 1926, and Washington State, by 24-0, in 1931, are held by the Crimson Tide.

TEAM TO REST.

Coach Frank Thomas ordered a rest for his team until next week, when three light signal drills are scheduled. Strenuous practice will be resumed, Coach Thomas said, one week from Monday, continuing until the Tide entrains on December 18. The team will leave the train for one-day practice sessions at El Paso, Texas, and Tucson, Ariz.

Three full teams will make the trip, Thomas stated.

Accompanying the team westward will be Dr. George H. (Mike) Deany, president of the university and an ardent football enthusiast. A movement was started to induce Governor-elect Bibb Graves to make the trip.

Within a few hours after announcement by the Louisville & Nashville railroad that a special train would be provided for fans, 147 reservations for Tide supporters were on the books. Alabama officials investigated possibility of taking the school's 80-piece band to the coast.

Two All-American players will be in the Alabama lineup. They are Millard (Dixie) Howell, triple-threat back, and Don Hutson, Alabama's greatest end. Other backfield stars will include Jimmy Angelich, fleet halfback; Iron Joe Denzovich, fullback; Riley Smith, blocking quarterback; Joe Mickey Riley, Howell's understudy, and Young Booser, sophomore halfback sensation.

GREAT BACK.

A look at the records after Howell, premier Dixie back this year, led his team to victory over Vanderbilt yesterday, shows that in three years of regular varsity competition, he has: Punted 138 times for an average of 42.8 yards; passed 135 times and completed 61 for an average gain on completed passes of 13.6 yards; run with the ball from scrimmage 303 times for average gain of 6.5 yards.

Meet Two Swell Guys! Mehre and Alexander

They Meet Again Today as Tech and Georgia Renew Annual Rivalry.

By Ralph McGill.

Let me present two estimable gentlemen for your consideration as Georgia Tech and Georgia day dawns. They are the Messrs. W. A. Alexander and Harry Mehre, the coaches of the Tech and Georgia football teams which meet this afternoon at Sanford field in Athens.

Both have been the subject of the usual amount of grousing from people who like to grouse and who maybe do not care for the gentlemen in question. But they loom so much bigger than their critics that there is no use to worry about the critics.

They both happen to be magnificent gentlemen, splendid sportsmen and capable coaches. Their football plays are just as good football plays as there are anywhere else.

ERA OF SQUAD.

In this day and time football games are played with squads, not with teams. The day of the team is over. The coach who does not have football players at each position in a very bad spot.

His plays will not work very well. If he has players not even two deep his plays will look perfectly terrible and the grousers who cannot see beyond their noses will begin to ask when something is going to be done about it.

They will put a couple of well-coached football teams on the field this afternoon at Athens. The game will be one of the finest of the year. It is most likely that Mr. Mehre's team will beat Mr. Alexander's team because Mr. Mehre happens to have more good football players. But that is all the victory will mean as far as the analysis of the game goes.

Or it may be that Mr. Alexander's kids will rise up and spring one of the great upsets of the year by defeating Mr. Mehre's kids. More unusual things have happened. This will mean only that an inspired team has defeated a superior team. Nothing more.

PROMISING GAME.

The stadium should be packed for this game because the Georgia football fans know they will see a great game.

There is something fine about this game which was going on when some of the grandfathers of today were college students.

It means more than just winning or losing although, of course, winning the game is the chief objective. That's why they invented methods of keeping scores in our games. To determine which side had won.

But at any rate, after years of knocking about the football sections of these United States, it is a pleasure to be able to present two very fine gentlemen and two very capable coaches—the Messrs. Alexander and Mehre.

THE ENTRY LIST.

The entry list was one of the largest in recent years with more than 200 of the freshmen taking part.

Aldridge finished more than 50 yards ahead of his nearest competitor and appeared not so tired as many of the others who trailed in rapid succession after second place.

George Griffin, the Georgia Tech track coach, was in charge of the race and was assisted by members of the varsity track team.

ALDRIDGE WINS.

Three former Atlanta high school athletes set the pace in winning their first places in the annual Tech freshman mile race Friday afternoon.

Robert Aldridge, former G. M. A. star and captain of the Tech freshman cross-country team, won first place, in 10 minutes and 19 seconds.

The time was unusually good for the wet course which measures two and three-tenths miles. The race started at the entrance of the Rose Bowl field, and after winding through swamps, over hills and to the waterworks and back, was completed on the baseball field.

Second to Aldridge was Jack Pearce, former Tech High star, with Ed Fambrough, formerly of Boys' High third. Another old Boys' High runner, M. Goldman, finished fourth.

The remaining 10 first places went to Vaughn, Darden, Byrd, Bloom and Hunt.

NAVY FAVORED IN GAME TODAY

Crowd of 80,000 To See Service Teams Clash at Philadelphia.

By Edward J. Neil.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The military splendor of the Army and the Navy swept in on Philadelphia today, taking over the scene of the annual service football battle tomorrow, jamming the streets with traffic, exciting the populace, controlling everything in the city except the weather.

On Franklin field and everywhere else drummed a steady rain from gloomy skies, and the best the weatherman could promise the tons of gold braids here assembled was that the showers would lessen by game time, 1:30 p. m.

ENTHUSIASM HIGH.

The rain dampened everything but enthusiasm, high as it has ever been in the forty-four years of sporting warfare between Uncle Sam's forces that move by land, and those that come by sea.

Since the Army and the Navy shrug at weather anyway the rain interested the service men only in that it threatened to shackle the chief offensive weapons of the two eleven—Navy's spectacular Fred "Buz" Borries, one of the nation's greatest ball carriers, and Army's equally versatile "Texas" Jack Buckner, main eye-catchers for the crowd of roughly 80,000, that will jam every available inch of space in Franklin field.

While Navy ruled in 8 to 5 favorite among the professionals, and no better than even money among those who have seen these two shatter pregame forecasts year after year in the past, Army was conceded the better chance in wet, rainy, despite it being the natural element of the midshipmen.

Army has the heavier line, averaging 187 2-7 pounds to Navy's 175 5-7, considerable margin on a sloppy field. The cadets bulk 180 and 1-11 1/2 pounds per man as a team, navy 174.

The sailors' attack admittedly is built around Borries, who does everything but the kicking that falls to Bill Clark. In Captain Joe Stan-cook at fullback, Ed Grove at one half, and Ralph Clark at quarter, the Cadets are conceded a more versatile supporting cast than Borries has in his ball carrying assistant, Clark at fullback, Dick Pratt at quarter and Tom King, son of a former Navy captain at right half.

ALL ARMY.

Not since 1921 when the Sailors beat Army 7 to 0 in New York, has Navy won the service championship. In the 10 games played since then, counting in the two-year lapse when relations were suspended in 1928 and 1929, Army has won eight games, and two have been ties. Navy held the Cadets to a scoreless tie in New York in 1923, and battled to a thrilling 21-21 deadlock in Chicago in 1926.

Over the years Army had won 19 of these season climaxes, Navy 12, with three ties.

There were admirals enough to man the world's fleets, generals enough to take over a new war, gathered in their hotels with their parties, arguing and explaining plays like pie and yearlings again as the football squads took their final workouts as far apart as possible.

The list of high officials included Secretary of War Swanson and Secretary of War Dorn, Chief of Staff General D. J. MacArthur, Postmaster General James A. Farley, congressmen and senators by the score.

Masters Happy To Announce 'It Is Alabama'

By Paul Zimmerman.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Alabama, to the amazement of scarcely anyone, was picked today to oppose Stanford in the twentieth annual Rose Tournament football game here New Year's Day.

While the football world, with few exceptions, felt certain that the Crimson Tide would roll again in the Rose Bowl, it had to await the arrival of Alfred Masters, Stanford's graduate manager, today, before its choice could be confirmed.

Masters spoke his magic words almost before he had stepped off the train.

"I'm happy to say it is Alabama," said the Palo Alto plenipotentiary.

PRESSURE.

"Plenty of pressure was brought to bear from other sections of the country," he said, "but there was only one possible move under the circumstances. I talked with Alabama representatives before I left last night, offering them a definite invitation which was promptly accepted."

"Because of the Western Conference postseason game we did not approach Minnesota, Big Ten champion, knowing an invitation would cause all concerned much embarrassment."

"We were informed that Alabama has one of the greatest teams in the history of the south, and with that information we could make no other selection."

The selection of Coach Frank Thomas' team means that Alabama will make its fourth Rose Bowl appearance in less than 10 years, with its record here still unimpaired by defeat. The invaders were tied in 1927 by Stanford. Victories over Washington

What! No Tickets!

Army-Navy Game

Is Coming High

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Representative Sol Bloom intends to find out just how come speculators are getting $50 to $75 for seats at the Army-Navy football game tomorrow.

The New York republican was "mad" when he announced today that he would demand a congressional investigation of the whole business of distributing tickets, intimating a few generals and admirals might have to answer some questions.

Bloom had more than one constituent looking to him to get seats for the big game at Philadelphia. More than a month ago, Bloom said, he applied for tickets and after waiting for weeks, he was told, "Sorry, but they are all gone."

"But the speculators have them and all they want is $50 to $75. Where did they get them? That's what I am going to find out. Somebody is getting some money. I don't know who, but I'll find out."

Members of congress receive two free tickets upon which they must pay a tax. In addition, Bloom said they were permitted to apply for a number of others, paying the regular $4.40 price.

"I can't even go myself," he complained. "I had to give my tickets away. You don't suppose I could go and then have some constituent point me out and say: 'No seats, eh? Well, he got there himself all right.'"

TECH, GEORGIA RENEW RIVALRY

Bulldogs Are Favorites. Crowd of 25,000 Is Expected.

By Jimmy Jones.

A football season that will be one with Ninevah and Tyre after the setting of a Georgia sun, brings the University of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology together on the green turf of Sanford stadium in the ninth game since the two institutions renewed football relations back in the fall of 1925. The game will begin at 2:30 p. m. (Athens time) or 1:30 Atlanta time.

With a promise of "fair and cold" from the weatherman, both teams should find firm footing on the beautiful Georgia field, designed for good drainage. And a crowd of at least 25,000 is expected to be on hand at the kick-off.

"These reports about a wet field favoring our team are all wet," declared Mr. Alexander. "What we need, also, is offense, for you can't win if you can't score," he added, which indicates that the Tech coach wants his own backs to be able to "go to town" if they get a chance.

Besides, Tech's chances of victory, however scant, lie largely in the Jackets' passing game. And one cannot well have a wet football with the accuracy of a dry one.

Once more the scene shifts back to classic Athens in this most ardent of rivalries between southern institutions. And again Harry Mehre's Bulldogs are listed as the favorites to win over the old gold brigade of the dean of conference coaches, now that Dan McGugin has said his farewell to arms, namely Mr. William A. Alexander.

RECORD SUPERIOR.

Georgia's record, for one thing, would make the Bulldogs the advance favorites if nothing else. The Red and Black legion, after a bad start in which it dropped three straight to North Carolina, Tulane and Alabama during the month of October, has surged forward to take four straight with the return of Cyrus Grant, the Cornelia Cyclone, and Aubrey (Buck) Chapman, the Winder Warhorse, to the football wars.

The Bulldogs have declaimed in consecutive order, Florida, Yale, North Carolina State and Auburn. Previously, they had won two victories over Stetson and Furman in early games, which gives a total of six triumphs against three defeats for the season.

Tech, on the other hand, has been battered and buffeted through a nine-game schedule, which to date has found

U. S. Navy Settle Annual Civil Argument Today

TEAMS BATTLE FOR A SHARE OF PRIZE TITLE

Both Are Unbeaten, Untied in Conference; Feature of Day's Card.

By Kenneth Gregory, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Kingfish Huey Long's adopted Louisiana State football team and his alma mater, Tulane, settle the question of gridiron supremacy in that section of the Southeastern Conference at Baton Rouge tomorrow.

Unbeaten and untied within the Big Thirteen, the Tigers and the Green Wave square off as two fairly evenly matched football machines and upon the outcome hinges the claim for at least a share of the Southeastern championship now involved between these eleven and the Crimson Tide of Alabama, which Thursday swamped Vanderbilt to complete a nine-game schedule unopposed.

As a reward for its great play throughout the season which saw it topple seven conference enemies and roll up 287 points, the highest total of any major team, the Red Regiment was chosen yesterday to represent the east-southwest in the Tournament of Roses against Stanford on New Year's Day.

BIG FEATURE. The Tulane-Louisiana State combat features a slim but select southern football slate that also offers attractive games between Georgia and Georgia Tech at Athens, Mississippi and Mississippi State at Jackson and Florida and Stetson at Gainesville.

Alabama and Tulane are out in front in the Southeastern title chase with seven victories each as the season nears its end, trailed closely by Louisiana State with six wins. The Wave winds up its campaign against the Tigers, but Louisiana State faces the strong Tennessee Volunteers at Knoxville next Saturday in the final conference struggle.

Close to 30,000 spectators, headed by Senator Long, are expected to witness the Tiger-Green Wave tussle. Tulane has lost only to Colgate and Louisiana State's record is marred only by ties with Rice and Southern Methodist.

The Tigers possess a remarkable record of 18 consecutive games without defeat, but have been tied several times. Captain Bill Jones' L. S. U. teams have not lost a conference game since he took over the coaching duties three years ago. The Greenies, coached by Ted Cox, battled the Tigers to a 7-0 tie last year. The tilt reveals a keen rivalry that started in 1893.

TECH-GEORGIA. Annually one of the South's classic battles, Georgia and Georgia Tech complete their schedules in the Bulldog stadium, the 29th meeting in this ancient feud. The Yellow Jackets, playing one of the toughest cards in the league, has had a very hard season, suffering injuries to key players throughout the season. After winning its opening game with Clemson, the Engineers have dropped eight straight games.

Georgia, after losing to North Carolina, Tulane and Alabama early in the campaign, has hit its stride, romping to victory over the Indians and opposition at Florida, Yale, North Carolina State and Auburn. The Bulldogs appear much stronger than Tech, but this tussle always affords an opportunity for an upset.

Mississippi and Mississippi State are expected to put up a bitter fight for state honors and the decision may be close. Florida should have little trouble with Stetson.

Jones To Meet Lion Man Tuesday

Paul Jones, the Texas hawk scissor king and one of the most popular wrestlers ever to appear in Atlanta, will meet Leo Numa, the Lion Man, in the feature match of Henry Weber's weekly mat show in the city auditorium next Tuesday night.

George Hills, the Wisconsin lumberjack, will tackle Sid Nabors, giant Nebraska, in the semi-main event of the card.

For the opening match Weber has matched Sammy Miller, Assyrian champion, with John Dameron, popular southern grappler.

Jones added to his popularity last Tuesday night when he defeated the terrible Chief Chawchaw in a terror, with his famous hawk scissors. In his match with Numa, Jones will face a severe test as the Lion Man is a tough customer and with low mighty hand to get along with.

Matchmaker Weber believes he has the match Atlanta fans have been waiting for and promises plenty of action and excitement when these two boys meet.

Tickets for the matches are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters on Peachtree.

THE NIGHT

ARMY AND NAVY.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—For the first time in nearly a decade, the Navy tomorrow has an even shot at its Army rival in a game, which will send some 80,000 spectators pouring into Franklin field.

The service duel has been a sellout for some days and the 80,000 attendees should look upon one of the best of all Army-Navy games, with Buzz Borries and Bill Clark thrown against Stancook and Buckler in a battle of star backs.

On form to date, the Navy has the greatest offensive strength, with a better grip on open play, a trifle more speed and a more versatile form of assault.

Against this, the Army has a stouter defense against the running game, but Army's pass defense will need more alertness than it showed against Notre Dame.

For Notre Dame has no passer as effective as Buzz Borries, who is equally at home on forwards and laterals, interpolated in his ball-carrying surges that are none too simple to head off.

Two lines are pretty well matched. Shuler of the Army is one of the best ends on any field, crowding passers and kickers—a hard man to catch the crowd out of any play. Borries and Buckler, two star backs, are playing their final games and both should throw a party worth attending.

The 80,000 will find here football of the finest spirit—football played to the last effort each man has to give—each team ably coached by army or navy officers—with army and navy men awaiting the final result as far away as the other side of the world.

And that's why as one can get with taps sound and Old Man Charon reports with his barque.

Farther south, Louisiana State faces Huey Long's team in a battle that will be much closer than the senator from Louisiana figures it will be.

Farther west, Howard Jones sends a revived Southern California against Washington in an attempt to lift his Trojans from their early rut.

Notre Dame will keep an eye on this U. S. C.-Washington affair as Notre Dame starts next week.

What About Alabama?

With Alabama chosen for the Rose Bowl game, with so many queries coming in about Alabama's strength, we turned the spotlight over to a southern scout who has seen the Crimson Wave in five games. His report:

"I will try to give you a little low-down on the team. Alabama has the four best ends on any southern squad. The line is a very good one. Captain Lee is not as fast as Fred Sington, but more powerful. Jim Whitley, another tackle, is faster than Sington on the 1930 eleven. He is the best all-around athlete in the south, making a good football player and baseball. He has made the basketball and baseball all-southern. Marr and Morrow are a great pair of guards."

"Last year Alabama had one of its best—Millard Howell. This year they have Howell, Joe Riley, a burly, fast quarterback, and by the way, the smartest player in the south. Howell is a 195-pound fullback who played his first football on the Alabama football team. Demayovich is an old-fashioned line plunger and brilliant in running interference."

About Howell.

"Howell has been a great back for three years at Alabama. He is the best punter in the south, a very accurate passer and the best climax runner I have seen since Johnny Mack Brown's days. He is very good in the line of scrimmage, a very good blocker and a very good tackler. This Alabama team has punting, power, and speed. The line will average better than 200 from end to end, and the backfield has two 100-pound backs. The others are light as backs."

"It is the most versatile Alabama team I have seen in twenty-two years, not as powerful as 1933, but more resourceful. Coach Thomas has twenty-two good football players. He can substitute freely without weakening his team."

"Hank Crisp, who has helped coach all the teams at Alabama from 1922 on, is one of the best line coaches in the country. Wade and Thomas owe much of their success to him. He is the one who disciplines the players, and how! You can see the discipline in Alabama's fine discipline team than Alabama."

"You can rate Thomas, Crisp and Drew as a great trio of young coaches who are afraid of no player in Alabama except Notre Dame. They are part of the Wade defense."

CARDEO QUITS MISSOURI POST

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Frank Cardeo, Notre Dame's all-American quarterback of 1929 and 1930, and last of the Rockne field generals, resigned today from the University of Missouri—one of the first major victims of the open season on unfortunate football coaches.

SEVEN JACKETS, THREE BULLDOGS CLOSE CAREERS

Great Crowd Expected To See Boys Battle at Athens.

the Jackets emerging on the long end of but one game, that in the opener with Clemson on September 29, which they took after a hard struggle, 12-7. Since that date, the Jackets have played some awfully good football in a series, notably with teams from Tulane and Florida, but they have lost eight straight, which is the worst season Tech has ever had.

But as cold hard experience has taught, it is very hard indeed to forecast the finish of a Tech-Georgia game. Nothing, outside of the outcome of a Georgia game, can tell you. The Jackets, even weirder, have been many of these outcomes, as more than one pseudo-expert can tell you. And this factor of doubt and suspense is what makes this game the grand opera of southern football.

Let us take a look at some of these games.

A GREAT SERIES. Since differences were smoothed up and relations renewed, Georgia has won five games, Tech three and one has been a tie, the 0-0 affair played in the mud at Grant field in 1932.

There have been some classic battles since. Quarterback Ivan Williams kicked a 42-yard field goal to win the first game for Tech on resumption of play in 1933 after a nine-month hiatus. The next year Georgia won, 14 to 13, on the strength of George Morton's famous resurrection from the role of "dead man" to the role of "head man" in the last half after Tech had led, 13-0, at that stage of the game. They had carried George Morton from the field in a coma just before that half ended.

The years of 1927 and 1928 were all Tech. It is only to repeat familiar history to relate how Georgia's team of superlatives of 1927, the champions of the "dream and wonder" team of McCarty, Johnson, etc., came to Atlanta for its last game of the season with a perfect record only to fall before a strange team in a game and grey afternoon, 12 to 0.

TECH WON IN '28. The next year, 1928, was the year of Tech's Rose Bowl game—Mr. Alexander's last great one by the way. Tech won 27 to 0, and the Jackets, Harry Mehre's second year as head coach, the Bulldogs triumphed 12-6 that year over the left-overs of the Georgia team that had won again in 1930 by 13-0.

In 1931 the Bulldogs ran amuck over a weak Tech team, winning 35-7 at Athens. In 1932, Tech won the 0-0 tie, but last year Tech came back to play a remarkable game. Tech won 14 to 0, and the Bulldogs won 7-6, before a crowd of 30,000. Little Homer Key threw a touchdown pass to Cy Grant, who legged it into the end zone.

STARTED SOMETHING. Tech lost that game by missing the extra point after touchdown and it has been an omen of things to come. Tech has not scored an extra point since 10 touchdowns scored.

The Athens Bulldogs are supposed to have too many guns for the Jackets today and should outscore them in a 10-0 victory. The Jackets have a percentage of .500, while Tech has a standing of .000, which is infinitely better than the Jackets' record.

But Tech has some good football players and may arise from the ashes and play a swell football game. In 1933, Tech won 14 to 0, and the Jackets won 7-6, before a crowd of 30,000. Little Homer Key threw a touchdown pass to Cy Grant, who legged it into the end zone.

A FAREWELL TO ARMS. And speaking of last games, it will be alone for some good men on both sides today. It will be a farewell to arms for Phillips, Roberts and Jerry Perkinson in the Tech line, and for Williams, Dean, Dave Wilcox and Carl Shaw on the line.

Georgia loses both Grant and Chapman, the wheelwheers of the backfield, and Tech loses a fine quarterback in Jack Griffith, and a rugged performer on the line in John Brown, the guard, as well as Captain Turbeyville, left half and head end. Tech's line is in an armory for the week end.

The entire Tech squad, along with coaches, will be transported to Atlanta on one of two special Seaboard trains this morning, leaving the Terminal station at 9:30 o'clock, Atlanta time.

The squad took a last light work-out at 10:30, and a few of the Jackets will count heavily on a pass game today and hope for an improvement in their running attack.

Many Atlantans will go by rail and motor to this city today and the crowd estimate of 25,000 is not at all exaggerated.

Western Heights last Sunday, Towery was the only man to rain consistently against the Jackets, and he was the only man to rain consistently against the Jackets, and he was the only man to rain consistently against the Jackets.

Passing, which worked so well against the professional team last Sunday, and which enabled the Heights team to win, will be a tie score, will likely be relied upon against the All-Star team Sunday.

Coach Raleigh Bennett has outlined several trick plays formations and will drill his team in the aerial game this week. "Speedy" Davis, a fast backfield man, has been signed by the Western Heights management and will play Sunday.

McGUGIN FARS GEORGIA, LEANS TOWARD TECH

Vandy Coach Says He Had Just as Soon Pick Jackets.

By Dan McGugin, Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30.—Florida's eleven should have easy sailing with Stetson but all the other southern games Saturday are old-time rivalries of the do-or-die type. The rest of the season counts for little for Georgia, Georgia Tech, Mississippi State, Mississippi University, Louisiana State and Tulane when they line up for Saturday's game.

Georgia Tech has had a poor season, winning few games, but if she wins from Georgia all of her upsets will be justified. Georgia Tech has had a far more impressive season. She has some wonderful backs and some great forwards and ends and collectively is faster than the Georgia Tech squad. Tech has been battered and hammered around, but has a brilliant man in Roberts, a great back in Phillips when in condition, some good guards and tackles, some fine ends and a pretty good string of backs. No two teams in the country have had such a good season as Georgia Tech, and Bill Alexander, of Georgia Tech, has shown what he could do on the field.

Mississippi probably has a little more power than Mississippi State, but Mississippi State has excellent punting and one of the best passers in the country in Armstrong—and how they do fight down in Mississippi in this game!

Cold steel will be applied at Baton Rouge. I pick Louisiana because she has the greatest team in her history, and I think her season's record is better. I doubt whether Ted Cox at Tulane has as great a team this year as some of his other teams. Stetson is a great back who will break up a football game any time if you give him a chance. Robinson is a great center and a great guard, and from a distance you can see the impression that the Tulane team is well-balanced and strong at all points.

Louisiana is tough in every position and will be a real test for the Bulldogs. I think the Bulldogs are a great team and he is perhaps the best quick kicker in the country.

Rotary Teams Will Resume Struggle

The Grand Park Aces and the White-Rose Aces will resume their playing Saturday at 9:30 at the Tech Rose Bowl, each determined to oust the other in the quest for the championship of the 135-pound league of the Rotary sandlot football tournament.

These mighty eleven have met on the gridiron, each tilt resulting in a tie. This situation has created a great amount of confusion among the followers of the tournament, and each spectator, is thoroughly convinced that it will be his team that will collect the spoils.

Two teams united force and journey to Cartersville for a Turkey Day struggle with the Boy Scouts of that city Thursday. The Atlanta Athletic Club, their opponent, is one of the best teams of the season. The Aces and the Bears now think they have the hope on each other, and tomorrow's game is expected to be of special interest.

In the 120-pound league the Rinkidinks and the Hammerheads tied in their Thursday tilt. Really, this tying business, becoming a habit, is one of the other of these teams will meet the O'Keefe Panthers Saturday morning. This, at least, will prevent the same teams from tying.

Ed Sims Voted As Best Player

Ed Sims, president of the senior class and guard on the Tech football team, was chosen the most valuable Russell player at a banquet given the team Friday night at the East Point Woman's Club.

Carlisle Hemperley, well-known East Point businessman and sportsman, who gave the dinner, will give Sims a medal at a later date. Jim Clay, captain of the team, was selected second most valuable.

Rev. Foley was the principal speaker and gave an interesting talk on "Football and Life." Other speakers included Hemperley, the team manager; Roy Brown, Tech's head coach; Coach R. L. Bowen, Bill Manser, Paul West, principal of Russell High, and Roy White.

Eleven of a captain and awarding of sweaters and letters will be announced at a later meeting.

Well, Look Who's Here! Army and Navy Ike Williams, Himself BATTLE TODAY

Hero of Tech's 3-0 Victory Over Georgia in 1925 Returns To See Old Rivals Battle.

By Jimmy Jones.

It was something of a coincidence that while the boys were fanning about the Tech-Georgia football game of 1925—the first after relations were renewed between the two teams—the principal character in that drama should come walking through the doorway of Coach Bill Alexander's office.

The visitor was Ivan (Ike) Williams, the rugged Tech quarterback, who kicked a field goal from the Georgia 42-yard line to win that game for the Engineers by the score of 3 to 0.

Nine years have elapsed since Ike, the cool Arkansan, booted the leather between the uprights with the wind at his back to start Tech off with a win in the new series. Williams is now a sedate young business man of Detroit, somewhat heavier and baldier.

Only one man of the team which played that game for Tech is still active as a football player. He is Doug Wykoff, the captain, who is playing his ninth year of pro football with Boston.

Coach Alexander, upon seeing the stocky Williams, immediately recalled the game and its attendant situations with his clear-cut memory for such things. He recalled how Ike, knocked dizzy while blocking for Wykoff on a previous line play, had misunderstood an official, thinking he had said "fourth and six," when really it was "fourth and ten." Williams was offside.

Mack Tharpe, the present Tech freshman coach, played a mighty game at tackle for Tech that day.

This afternoon, if business permits, Ike Williams will visit Athens, and Tech will play his Alma Mater, to beat Georgia for the first time since Wykoff and Bob Godwin. And when he is asked to play in the first half, "So Ike, being the field general for out side, immediately called for a field goal try from about the Georgia 10-yard line over the protest of both Wykoff and Bob Godwin. And when

Games To Settle Titles Hold Interest in Two Sections.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Aside from the spectacular Army-Navy football show, which dominates tomorrow's brief but noteworthy fall-well to gridiron arms in most sections of the country, chief interest centers in maneuvers calculated to help settle conference championships in the south and southwest.

From this corner it looks like Navy's year to break through the stalemate with the great Buzz Borries primed to take the spotlight from West Point's versatile Jack Buckler in a glittering gridiron pageant as the country has enjoyed all season. A muddy field may enhance Army's chances, while allowing the "Big Boy" Borries, but Navy seems better equipped to handle the odds and rates at least even on the defense.

British Fascist Leader Is Visitor in Rome

ROME, Nov. 30. (AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, British fascist leader, was in Rome today and a flock of mystery was thrown around his visit.

A government spokesman said last night Italian authorities had received no official notice of Mosley's arrival, asserting "we know nothing about it."

When Mosley's train arrived from Paris his secretary asked a police officer to scatter photographers. Sir Oswald said the secretary said he did not wish to pose for photographs. They remained on the train until the cameramen left the station.

A check-up of principal hotels later failed to reveal where England's black-

2-INCH LEAD SINKER,
IN LUNG 8 YEARS, IS REMOVED HERE

A two-inch surf fishing line lead sinker that had been in a girl's lung for eight years was removed at St. Joseph's infirmary Friday afternoon in 21 minutes with the aid of the bi-plane fluoroscope and the bronchoscope.

Physicians removed the sinker from the left lung of Miss Lillian Johnson, 18, of Fairfax, S. C., and reported that the young woman, who had had pneumonia several times and had been a patient in a tuberculosis sanitarium for several years, had a good chance of recovery.

The sinker was sucked into the lung when Miss Johnson and her family were surf fishing near Charleston in 1926 and had lodged in the extreme lower lobe of the lung, several inches

Adhesions and tissue which had grown around the object during the many years, added to the fact that the location was most inaccessible, made removal extremely difficult and physicians were divided in their opinions as to whether an incision from the outside was the only possible method of removing the object. Reports from St. Joseph's at midnight said that Miss Johnson was progressing rapidly toward recovery.
